Year 'round School Eyed Here

Will a 12-month school session come to Lemon Grove?

It very well could — and at a saving to local taxpayers.

The question was put to Lemon Grove Elmentary School District Superintendent Byron Netzley last week as a result of two events

One was the probable multi-unit housing development just south of Lemon Grove, near Encanto. This development is a finger of land which actually is in San Diego but it will be serviced by the Lemon Grove School District.

When this happens, a new school will be required to house the 700-900 new students who will live there. All property owners in Lemon Grove will share the responsibility for educating the newly arrived youngsters.

While no thoughtful resident wants to avert his responsibility, it is incumbent upon every one to explore the possibility of keeping down the financial burden of education.

The other of two events was the publication of a story in the magazine section of the Sunday Union in which an all-year school district was described.

At the offset, it should be noted that one of the district's most capable representatives — Dr. Robert Sutton, an assistant to Netzley — will visit the southwest of Chicago district to see if it works — and how it works. He'll report to the local school board when he returns. The trip is a waystop on his return from the American Research Association seminar in New York Feb. 4-7.

In San Diego City area, developers are required to make school land available to school districts. Of course districts must pay for it but it is cheaper to buy unimproved land at fair market value than that which is already improved. County Planning, likewise, is new requiring large developers to earmark land for schools.

The Chicago program is rather simple. It is labeled the "45-15 Continuous School Year Plan" and sets a 45-class-day school period (9 weeks) and a 15-day vacation (3 weeks). This program is followed all year long but in rotating shifts.

The Chicago district has about 7,000 students who overflow the district's five elementary schools and one junior high school. Students are divided into four groups. Three are in class while one is on vacation. Thus, about 5,250 pupils attend school while 1750 stay home at any period of the year.

This does away with the conventional three month summer vacation but gives the 5,250 capacity district enough room for all 7,000 students.

At year's beginning a new class started every 15 days. When the first class started its 15 day off period, the fourth group of 1750 started its first class. Thus, every year every pupil will have 180 days of classes (four 45-day sessions) and a total of three months vacation. In addition, all pupils will get 12 days off June 24 to July 6 so that maintenance work can be done on school buildings and buses.

The 45-15 program increased the Chicago district's capacity by one-third. This was equivalent to adding 60 classrooms worth $6 million without spending a cent. Other economies included the savings on construction bonds. It did not require another principal and his staff for another school. No new janitors and no new clerks had to be hired and there was no new building to depreciate. There was no new grass to cut, no new desks to buy nor libraries to equip.

Teachers will earn more as they extend their work year. They can take graduate courses in local colleges in the evenings or on Saturdays as needed.

The old three-month vacation, it was pointed out, was for early-Americans to get their youngsters to aid with crops. Not so, now. Most families can't get their kid to mow the lawn.

One of the problems faced by school districts today is the reluctance of overburdened taxpayers to add to his tax load. And as communities such as Lemon Grove grow older, a growing proportion of residents do not have youngsters in school. These are two strong influences in rejecting new bond issues. Yet, everybody must share in the cost of education whether they have kids in school or not because a society is only as strong as its educational system.

It is likely that once all school facilities are utilized all year every year, even those who might otherwise be recalcitrant in the matter of approving bond issues, will see the light and give new programs their approval.

Block, who was reported missing January 18, shot himself with a .22 caliber rifle, according to reports from the Sheriff's Department, who conducted the search.

The body was found at about 11 a.m. by his father, on the Foster truck trail. His father was helping in the search. The weapon was found near his head, along with some personal papers, ammunition, and camping gear.

Other Griefs

Lemon Grove District

Board Hears Reports On Mobile Van, Subdivision

The Lemon Grove School District Board of Trustees met Monday night and approved the 1971-72 budget calendar and a revision of ESEA Title III application in routine matters.

The calendar for the budget is merely a legal requirement requiring the board to set down guidelines and deadlines relative to the preparation, approval, and filing of the budget for next year.

The revision of Title III application involves a $4,420 the district was allocated to defray the costs involved when NDEO Title V, Part A was eliminated when the recent education bill passed Congress.

Under Title V-A, the District made applications for $11,000 for counseling and guidance funds. The revision of Title III makes it possible for the District to use the $4,420 allocation for counseling and guidance. Byron Netzley was designated the authorized representative of the district to file the application for the revision.

At the meeting, the board also heard reports on a proposed mobile van to house music students and the Angelus Heights subdivision project.

In the mobile van reports, the board heard a feasibility study on the use of a mobile van which could be used at each of the district's schools for musical instruction.

It was noted that a mobile unit would be more feasible for the instruction than trying to build new classrooms or purchase portable buildings

Local Bus Operator Asks Transit Study

A second request for an investigation into the purchase of the San Diego Transit System has been made by a local bus line operator this week.

Freedie L. Allen, owner and operator of the San Diego Economy Line, Inc., of Casa de Oro, said Monday that he filed his complaint with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration in Washington.

He said he filed a complaint in March, 1970 and again this month but no action has been given.

Allen said that the Federal government had given a grant to buy the S.D. Transit System and the Economy Line but California Bus Tours was bought instead of Economy.

The total cost, he said, was $3,953,500.

Economy was offered $15,000 without job provisions for Economy employees as was guaranteed for Transit and CalTours.

He also filed a complaint, he said, with Congressmen Van Deerlin and R. Wilson. Additionally, Transit is now operating over Economy's routes, Allen said.

Once the Vietnamese sailors become proficient in the skills necessary to operate a modern Navy, the craft and gear are turned over to their control, thereby effectively reducing the number of U. S. naval forces needed in Vietnam.

Another program instituted by U. S. Navymen to assist the Vietnamese in building a more viable Navy is called Operation Helping Hand.

Through this program, American sailors strive to offset the war-inflated economy and improve the austere living conditions of Vietnamese Navymen and their dependents through self-help projects.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

By JAMES HARDISON

How does one say "to know" in Spanish? Some of my Spanish-speaking friends have suggested "conocer." Others have said "saber" is correct. Would you please help clarify?

Your advisers are correct on both counts. "Conocer" and "saber" are two words that mean "to know" in English. However they are used under different circumstances which cause a variation in the meaning of "to know."

"Conocer" means "to know" in the sense that one may come "to know" persons or things. "Conocer" may also be translated "to be acquainted with." This may best be understood in the example "Dese conocer Mexico." for "I want to know Mexico." or "I want to be acquainted with Mexico." Also "Deseo conocer a ella." demonstrates the use of "conocer" and means "I want to know her." This may also be translated "I want to be acquainted with her."

"Saber" means "to know" in the sense of knowing a fact, to know how, or to know thoroughly. For example, we may say "Deseo saber como cantar." for "I want to know how to sing." Also "Deseo saber como nadar." for "I want to know how to swim." We may also interpret this to mean "I want to know how to swim thoroughly."

"Saber" and "conocer" may be altered for more varied uses. "Sabe" and "conoce" are examples of alterations. "Sabe usted?" means "Do you know?" "Conoce usted?" means "Do you know?" with the implication "Are you acquainted with?" Thus "Sabe usted la leccion? for "Do you know the lesson?" and "Conoce usted a el?" for "Do you know him?"

Practice phrases listed below, demonstrate the use of "saber" and "conocer." You may practice saying them with the recorded voice heard when dialing 276-2762.

IMPORTANT PHRASES:

Say "Que desea saber usted?" (keh deh-SEH-ah sah-BEHR oo-STEHD)
for "What do you want to know?"
Say "Deseo saber mucho." (deh-SEH-oh s a h-B E H R MOO-choh) for "I want to know a lot."
Say "Desea conocer a ella?" (deh-SEH-ah knoh-noh-SEHR ah EH-yah)
for "Do you want to know her?"
Say "Deseo conocer a ella." (deh-SEH-oh knoh-noh-SEHR ah EH-yah)
for "I want to know her."
Say "Saber todo es imposible." (sah-BEHR toh-THOH ehs eem-poh-SEEB-leh)
for "To know everything is impossible."
Say "Es verdad." (ehs vehr-DAHD)
for "That is true."

Let no one imagine that it is a strained and unnatural thing for one to pray. The contrary is much closer to the fact. It is for more unnatural for one not to pray. Prayer is one of the most natural of human instincts. Prayer is man's response to the divine will.

CONRAD LEMON GROVE MORTUARY

Operation 'Share The Plow' Now Well Underway At Hillsdale Site

MISSTINKY — The water reclamation system for the project includes this tank where the water is treated. The sewerage is sprayed with chemicals to keep the odor down to a minimum, but the smell is not completely destroyed, hence the nickname.

A group of invited guests were present at a movie of the California Water District program, and talks of water reclamation, last Friday at the Spring Valley office of the Otay Municipal Water District.

Several students from El Cajon Valley High School, participating in the Future Farmers of America program, were present, as a segment of their agricultural studies. President of the group, Tim Fritz, and vice president, Martin Gauss, gave vivid pictures of their class work and results.

Alex Struthers, assistant manager for the Otay Water District, said the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club and Kiwanis International, in cooperation with the Grossmont Union High School District, have been working with the Water District in agricultural irrigation with sewage effluent.

It was pointed out that presently the District is investigating the utilization of sewage effluent with a "drip irrigation" system.

Following the meeting, the crowd attended a luncheon at the Ox Bow Inn. Then, by bus, they took a tour of the District, where Struthers explained the various units and what lies ahead for the area.

Operation "Share the Plow", as the experimental studies are known, includes students from Spring Valley, El Cajon, La Mesa, and neighboring communities as well as Kiwanis Clubs in the area.

The Kiwanis Clubs and the Grossmont District share expenses for the project, while the Otay Water District is furnishing the water and some of the necessary equipment.

Under the program, the students have planted rows of cabbage, and have irrigated them with the newly developed drip irrigation system as well as the traditional ways, and have used reclaimed sewerage as well as "regular" water, furnished by the Otay District.

The purpose of the experiment is two-fold: to see how the drip irrigation method compares with conventional ways, and to see if the reclaimed water, which is cheaper than imported water, is acceptable for agriculture.

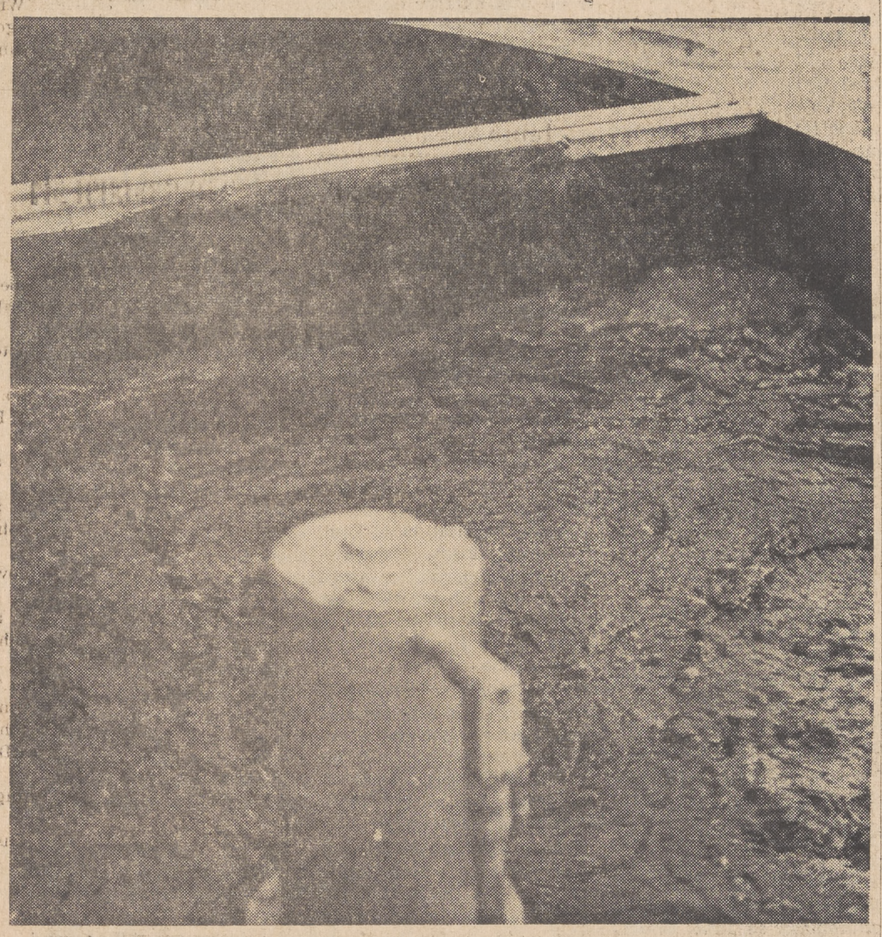
It is expected that the experiment will bear out the theory that the reclaimed water is actually better than aqueduct water, as the recycling process causes a build-up of phosphates and nitrates, which are the principle elements of commercial fertilizers.

The experiment is well underway now, as the drip lines have been rolled out and the cabbage has sprouted. After weeding and thinning, results will start trickling in as the plants develop.

In the project, students do all of the work in the fields, as well as a great deal of the planning. So far, the toughest part of the job was rolling out the drip lines, as it must be done on a warm day.

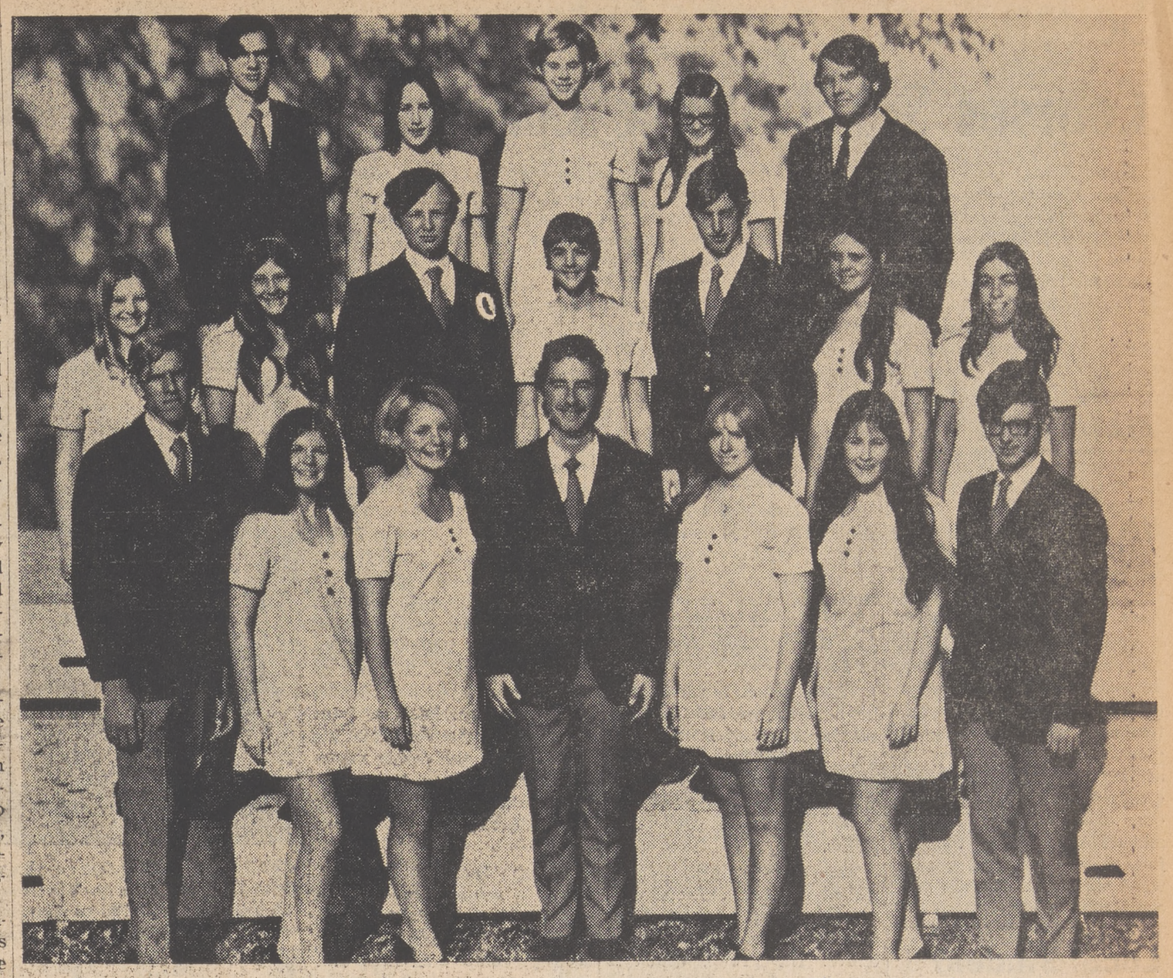
Although it is a rugged job to get the lines rolled out, it is a much easier task than ditching for the conventional furrow irrigation.

The drip lines also save water, as less evaporation takes place. Water savings have been estimated up to 60%.



INSIDE — Inside the tank, the sewerage is treated chemically and circulated, separating solid waste for the usable liquids and purified. From this tank, the sewerage is taken through further purification equipment and is pumped to the irrigation lines. After purification, according to one student on the project "You can drink it. It won't hurt you, it's just the thought of it."

INSPECTING — Randy Hine, a Lakeside student on the project, takes a look at cabbages irrigated by the conventional furrow method. Actually, the visible plants here are weeds, as the cabbage has not grown large enough for extensive weeding. While weeding with a hoe, "It's just as easy to take out a whole row of cabbage as it is to get the weeds," according to another student.



CHORALIERS — Helix High School's Choraliers will present a program in conjunction with the Women's Committee of the Grossmont Concert Association Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the La Mesa Adult Recreation Center, 8450 La Mesa blvd.
The group, which will be leaving for Hawaii in March for a concert tour there, will sing songs from the Renaissance period, the Modern Classical period, and will sing several popular numbers.
Under the direction of Robert Rue, the Choraliers will be accompanied by Sue Dixon and Alycia Burger.

March of Dimes Moves To Last Campaign Days

The March of Dimes drive is moving into its final days but the fight against birth defects will continue all year, Alex Hannum, county campaign chairman, announced this week.

"We are beginning to see the rewards from the fine response of people in San Diego County and we are hopeful of bettering last year's drive when the results are tabulated after the Mothers March," he said.

Hannum reminded that although the campaign is conducted during the days of January, much can be done during the other 11 months of the year. "Please don't set a deadline on helping us fight birth defects," Hannum said.

The chairman cited many important programs being conducted, including B'nai B'rith's Operation Stork for prenatal care, medical scholarships, distribution of research grants, support of genetic counseling services, aiding patients and providing additional expenditures for the Salk Institute for Biological Studies.

The San Diego County chapter will offer financial assistance of $500 each to four students interested in preparing for certain health careers. There is no stipulation on the field. This will help students prepare for medicine, nursing, physical therapy and occupational therapy.

Foreign Exchange Students Find Differences Between Countries

Students at United States schools have more freedom than students in other countries, at least according to three foreign exchange students at Mount Miguel High School.

The students, Sule Oguz, Maisu Aho, and Juergen Puetter, come from Turkey, Finland, and Germany, respectively. They are studying at Mt. Miguel under the American Field Service program.

Some of the differences between American schools and those of other countries, according to Sule Aho and Juergen Puetter, is the fact that in their home countries, students can study one subject for several years, while at Mount Miguel a subject may be offered for only one year.

Chemistry, for example is offered at Mount Miguel for seniors and juniors, but a student can only take it once, unless he fails it. In their countries, Sule and Juergen could spend several years on the subject.

Puetter went on to say that he thought the people in this country are very nice, and quite helpful, although he was surprised to discover that boys, in most cases, don't open doors for the girls or help them with their coats.

Another difference between the countries, said the students, is that it is so difficult to get places here without a car. Their home countries have less space, and things are closer together, so they do a lot of walking.

Christmas offered another new experience to the Turkish girl, Sule, as she is a Moslem, and has never celebrated the season before. It was quite unusual to see Santa Claus for her, she said, but she added that it was a lot of fun.

For the other two students, the yule was nothing new, but they said that is was as enjoyable as any they had in their home countries.

The difference in the weather was a factor for the exchange students, as they come from colder climates with the exception of Sule. Juergen said that he misses the snow, but does enjoy the warm weather.

Maisu, the Finnish girl, said she enjoys the warm California sun a great deal.

Female and male army ants so differ in appearance that naturalists at first thought them to be different species.

Special Class Planned For Southwestern

Southwestern College announced last week that a special course in automotive care will be offered during the spring semester, designed especially for the woman driver.

The class will meet Monday evenings from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. starting February 8, but no credit will be given. Registration can be made in the classroom on the first night of the class.

Course content will cover the basic mechanics of the automobile, terminology, preventive maintenance, and an introduction to the various systems in a car. Laboratory time will include examination of auto parts, demonstrations, and criteria on how to select a qualified mechanic for major repairs.

The course is designed to expand a car owner or driver's general automotive knowledge, and should be of value to all women who enroll in the class.

Full information regarding courses at Southwestern College can be obtained by contacting the Admissions Office.

Local Girl Strong In Role At Actor's Quarter

By Lee Coffin

The Silver Cord, Sidney Howard's psychological study of a "perfect mother" and the effect she has on her two grown sons, is currently playing Friday and Saturday nights at Actors Quarter, 480 Elm st., San Diego.

The play, written almost forty years ago, still has power to compel one to listen and reflect. With the exception of a few lines which should have been updated, this production for the most part captures and holds the audience from beginning to end.

Particularly strong are Sheila Madden who plays Mrs. Phelps, the mother who has made a career of being everything to her two sons' and Pamela Adams as Christine, the elder son's biologist wife, who determines to fight for her marriage, her husband and her unborn child against the insidious influence of a mother who refuses to let her children grow up and lead their own lives.

Miss Madden, although still a young woman herself, is completely convincing as the middle-aged Mrs. Phelps, in a very demanding role, while Pam Adams, of Lemon Grove, after a weak beginning, completely captures the sympathy of the audience, especially in the bedroom scene where she confronts and challenges her husband to a whole marriage and complete relationship with her or a "life of sterility" if he remains as a "good son" with his mother.

Golden Avenue Sixth Graders Go To Camp

Sixth-grade campers this week will include students from Lemon Grove, City-County Camp Commission Director Edwin E. Pumala has announced.

Golden Avenue School in Lemon Grove will send 68 sixth-grade boys and girls to the five-day outdoor education experience at Camp Cuyamaca. Teachers Edward L. Harvell and Miss Karen R. Nygren will accompany the group.

The escorting teachers will not instruct the group at camp, according to Pumala. Each camp is staffed by specially selected and trained teachers who specialize in the "discovery" method of teaching. The flight of a hawk may occasion a short lesson in biology, Pumala says.

Other specialized subjects suited for and benefiting from the outdoor classroom approach are stressed, Pumala says. These include ecology, astronomy, Indian customs and history, geology, and working group democracy. Each camp session usually includes special instruction and practical work in conservation, Pumala said.

Adult School Anthropology Classes Set

College level classes in anthropology and archeology will be conducted by a local instructor at Hoover and El Cajon Adult schools.

Mrs. Gilbert Chassy, the wife of a prominent, retired medical doctor is the instructor.

In the archeology course, analysis will be made of prehistoric material and artifacts. Many sites will be studied in Europe, Asia, the Middle East and the Americas. The Dead Sea scrolls, Jerusalum and Masada will come under the study of Israel.

In both courses there will be films, and trips to the Zoo, museum and archeology sites in San Diego.

All classes are at 7 p.m. and start Feb. 1.

Tough Teams, Officials Bring Mats Two Losses, Fifth Place

Mount Miguel High School's basketball team had a bad time last week, running into tough opponents and bad luck with officials, and losing two games to drop from the top of the league standings.

The Matadors, after losing a tough one to Santana, 51-47, and a heartbreaker to Helix, 78-71, took over fifth place after being tied for first with three other clubs.

The Matadors took to the road for the third time in as many games last Tuesday afternoon as they invaded the Santana gymnasium.

The Sultans, after losing their first two games of the season, had tuned themselves for the game against the locals by beating Granite Hills and El Capitan, and were eager to upend the favored Matadors.

In the first period, the Sults bounced away to a 12-9 lead, and extended into 29-23 at halftime. In the third period, however, Mount Miguel came roaring back to take the lead, but were turned away suddenly as Sultan Dennis Core got a hot hand.

In the final stanza, it was a rugged battle, with the Sultans finally emerging with the win.

Dennis Core led all players with 19 points, as three Matadors hit for double figures. John Slater, who ranks third in the league scoring statistics, was able to score only three points for his team.

Miguel coach Dwight Teater refused to comment on the game, although he was unhappy about "inconsistent" calls by the officials.

On Friday night the local team was "up" for a crucial contest with Helix, but lost, 78-71 in the Highlanders' gym.

The Highlanders jumped away to a big first quarter lead, but John Slater got a hot hand in the second stanza and helped his team to a 31-29 halftime advantage. The Helix crew came back to lead by three as the game came down to the final period.

In the that period, Mount Miguel exploded for 24 points and played well enough to win handily, but three Matadors fouled out in the waning minutes of the period, and Helix sank 12 of its last 14 points from the charity stripe to win.

In the period, Mount Miguel wore down the Helix lead and took a 67-64 lead, but nine personal fouls and a technical foul in the final 2½ minutes spelled disaster for the locals.

Teater, who was again unhappy about the officiating in the game, said that his team "outplayed them in every department" and added that he thought the game will spark his team for the rest of the year.

His team hosted Monte Vista Tuesday and will travel to El Capitan to start the second half of the season tomorrow. The Mats defeated the Vaqueros in the first meeting of the year between the two teams.

'Hillers Upend MV Hoopsters

By Tom Blattler

Led by senior Kevin Enright's 21 points, the Grossmont Foothillers upset the number one rated Monte Vista Monarchs, 59-53, in a Jan. 19 game played in the losers' gym.

Monte Vista jumped out to the lead at the end of the first quarter, 13-11, as the Monarchs dominated the boards.

But in the second quarter, Monte Vista's shooting became cold and the Foothillers were hitting the open shots to gain the lead at halftime, 29-28, although the Monarchs still commanded the backboards.

Enright kept Grossmont in the lead with his offensive rebounding and shooting. The Foothillers used their bench strength in the final quarter to hold off the pressing Monarchs.

Poor shooting proved to be Monte Vista's downfall. The Monarchs shot their season's low of 37 percent from the floor.

The leading scorer for the Monarchs was senior center Allen Bunting with 18 points and 6-foot-3 forward Gary Earle had 11.

The best thing that happened to the Granite Hills Eagles last Friday was when they led two to nothing at the start of their game with the Monte Vista Monarchs as the Monarchs buried the Eagles, 71-32, in the Monarchs' gym.

Gary Earle led the Monarchs with 27 points and played excellent defense. The "Pearl" made some fantastic block shots, the most noteable being on a fast break when Gary jumped from the free throw line to block an attempted layup.

Also scoring double figures for Monte Vista was Allen Bunting who recorded 22 and senior guard Bob Papciak had 10 tallies.

The Monarchs' next opponents are the Helix Highlanders. Helix has possibly the best all-around player in the county in senior forward Mike Honz, who averages 20.2 per game.

Mats Win Thriller Over Helix

The Mount Miguel Matadors won two battles in their hard fought battle with Helix, Friday, the winning of the match, 24-22, and the first spark of life in the team's heavyweight divisions.

Steve Schroeder, Matador heavyweight, was pitted against Johnson of Helix in the match's final bout. The Matadors led 22-20, and Johnson had only to defeat Schroeder to gain an upset victory for the Highlanders. However, Schroeder had other ideas about the match as he showed six minutes later. The first two periods were scoreless with both wrestling very conservatively. In the third period, however, Johnson had only to escape from Schroeder to win for Helix. But, again Schroeder had other ideas as he held Johnson down for a tie and Miguel came out on top, 24-22.

One of the most exciting matches of the year saw Miguel take leads of 13-3 and 22-14 only to see Helix battle back.

Matador lightweight Jim Minor was upset in the first match of the day but Dale Siscon recorded his usual pin. Then the Matadors won two straight before Helix bounced back to win three in a row. The Matador middleweight then took over with Mark Shuff, Kevin Pullen and Greg Robinson each decisioning their opponents.

In the 178 pound match, Mike Trebbian of Miguel was beaten in a close 2-1 match and Lee Stewart of the 191 lb. class was flattened 13-3 before Schroeder hung on to win for Miguel.

Monarchs Overrule Eagles

Led by seniors Steve Fleury and Mark Ochs, the Monte Vista wrestling team defeated the Granite Hills Eagles, 33-16, last Friday night in the Eagles' gym.

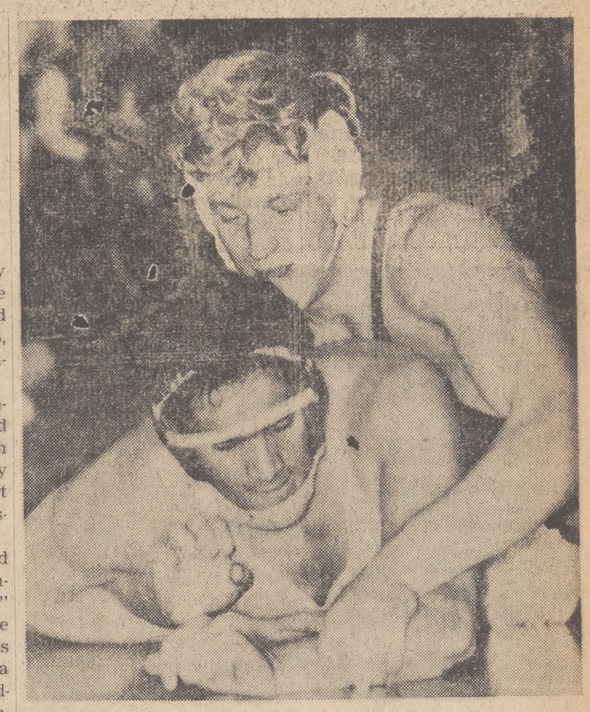
Both Fleury and Ochs pinned their opponents which led the Monarchs to their fourth straight league victory against no defeats, and kept them at the top of the Grossmont League.

Monte Vista also recorded victories from seniors Richard Weathers, Mike "Rocky" Mitchell, Randy McCorquodale and Bill Paine. Sophomores Rick Morris and Gary Uyeda and freshman Dave Broadwolf all aefeated their opponents easily. Uyeda was the only other Monarch to win by a pin.

The Eagles also rerorded pins in two of the matches. Mark Noble took a fall from his opponent with 33 seconds left in his bount, and Bert DeWitt pinned his counterpart in the 147-pound weight class.

The win kept the Monarchs a full match ahead of the once-beaten Mt. Miguel Matadors, who defeated the previously unbeaten Helix Highlanders, 24-22.

The Highlanders will be facing the tough Monarchs tonight at Helix at 8 p.m. Helix is led by 140-pounder Chip Swanson.



HALF-NELSON — Monte Vista wrestler Steve Meyer, top, tries to put a "half-Nelson" on his opponent to gain leverage for a pin in action Saturday.

Padres Sign Ferrara; To Battle for Berth

Al Ferrara, who last year achieved personal major league season highs in hits and runs scored, has signed his 1971 contract, Padre manager Eddie Leishman announced.

Leishman said that he also has received signed contracts from pitcher Al Santorini and rookie hurler Steve Arlin.

They are the first signings to have been announced.

Ferrara, who played in 138 games and hit .277 last year, faces a stiff battle for the starting left field position from nearly half a dozen candidates.

But such competition doesn't disturb the popular 30-year-old veteran whose major league lifetime batting average is a healthy .263.

"It's not important who starts the season or who finishes it," Al has said. "What's important is who plays the most games in between."

Ferrara's 103 hits last season and his 44 runs scored were personal highs for the right-handed hitter. He connected for 13 homers, 10 coming on the road, and had his best success against St. Louis and Pittsburgh pitching, batting .375 against the former and .367 against the latter.

Ferrara, who made a remarkable recovery from a broken ankle sustained in the second game of the 1968 season when playing for Los Angeles, enjoyed a 12-game hitting streak last season and hit safely in 19 of 20 games from Aug. 2 to Sept. 13.

The Padres have high hopes for Arlin, the bespectacled 25-year-old dentist who tossed a masterful seven-hit shutout against Atlanta late last season.

This will be Arlin's first spring training, the right-hander in previous springs having been involved in dental studies at Ohio State. He was graduated from dental school there last June.

Santorini was unable to shake off injuries last season, primarily a stiff shoulder, and spent much of the year at Salt Lake.

Barnes Brings Bill To Change College Names

Assemblyman E. Richard Barnes (R, San Diego), last week introduced legistlation which would change the name of the California State Colleges to the California State University. Individual State Colleges could have their names changed to include the word "university" by action of the State College Trustees and the Coordinating Council for Higher Education.

Barnes was pleased to note that the leadership in the Senate and the Assembly have coauthored the important bill. President pro Tempore James R. Mills and Speaker Bob Moretti have both committed their strong support for the passage of the name change bill

The San Diego legislator stated that the change in name is long overdue. "The State Colleges comprise the largest system of four-year institutions of higher learning in the western hemisphere.", he said.

Gulls Face Crisis In 2 Game Weekend

The San Diego Gulls open another important two-game weekend here tomorrow night when they take on the Phoenix Roadrunners in a battle for second place in the WHL standings. The Gulls then return home to battle the Portland Buckaroos at the Sports Arena on Saturday night at 8 p.m.

The game against the Roadrunners will be televised on KCST, Channel 39, live and in color, as well as broadcast on KOGO radio (600).

Saturday night's game against Portland will mark the San Diego observance of Amateur Hockey Week in the United States and Canada. The Gulls have designated Saturday as Minor Hockey Night, and boys from all minor hockey age groups will help to honor the San Diego Amateur Hockey Association's Gull of the Year, as selected by all the boys engaged in minor hockey. Each of the boys cast a vote for his choice.

Second place will be at stake in the game tomorrow night at Phoenix. The Gulls entered this week's action one point behind Phoenix, and San Diego played last night in Portland.

The Gulls have played two games less than the Roadrunners heading into tomorrow's game.

The Saturday night game against Portland will be a rematch of last night's contest in Portland. The Gulls had won only once in eight starts against the Buckaroos before last night's game.

Padres Sign Local Boy As Hurler

The Padres have signed a right-handed pitcher from Lemon Grove to a contract with their Class A club in Tri Cities, it was announced by Bob Fontaine, director of scouting, this week.

Signed was Bill Lockart, 22-year-old right-hand pitcher who had an undefeated 7-0 record his final prep season at Mount Miguel High School.

Lockart, 195 and 6-1, was born in Long Beach. He was graduated from United States International University and received honorable mention All-American College Division of the NAIA in baseball.

The Padres also announced the signings of both their second round selections in the regular and secondary phase of the free agent draft held last January 13.

Coach's Clinic Planned At Grossmont College

Baseball season is just around the corner, and youth leagues are starting to take form. As a kickoff to the 1971 season with an emphasis on youth baseball, Grossmont College has scheduled a "coach's clinic" Saturday.

The event is presented by the athletic department of the school, and is designed for all Little League, Pony League, Colt League managers and coaches, as well as the general public interested in baseball.

Starting with registration and refreshments at 9 a.m., the clinic will last until 2:30 p.m. with several baseball experts discussing their specialties with those attending the event.

Dr. Paul Bauer, team physician for the Padres and Rockets since 1968 and a member of the National Baseball League Physician's Committee on Drug Abuse, will open the clinic with a talk about orthopedic problems and injuries associated with baseball.

Bob Skinner, Padre hitting instructor and former great with Pittsburgh Pirates, will follow Dr. Bauer on the program and will draw from his experience to talk about hitting techniques.

Following Skinners' talk, Chris Cannizzaro, the Padre's top catcher and San Diego's first All-Star, is scheduled to discuss catching fundamentals.

After a break for lunch, Noel Mikelsen, former pitcher in the Atlanta organization, and baseball coach at Grossmont College, will talk on basic pitching fundamentals.

Bob King, a former shortstop with the New York Yankees and Cleveland Indians, as well as Vice-Principal for El Capitan High School, will close out the individual talks when he expounds on infield play.

The last half-hour of the clinic will be an informal rapsession with some local ball players who are now playing professional baseball.

"What we are trying to accomplish," said Mickelsen. "Is to present a program to help managers, coaches and dads who are interested in working with youth baseball."

"The program will be presented with a fundamental nature," he continued. "And is open to every one, especially the Dad wanting to help his son."

Admission is free, and the clinic will be held at the college gym.

Kerry O'Brien to Run Two-Miler at Arena

Kerry O'Brien of Australia, world record holder in the 3,000 meter steeplechase, has filed his entry for the San Diego Indoor Games Friday night, Feb. 19, at the International Sports Arena.

Meet Director Ralph Smith announced that O'Brien will run the two mile against the fastest field in history, including co-world record holders George Young and Kerry Pearce, who both set the mark of 8:27.2 on the San Diego track.

O'Brien joins another Australian world record holder, Ralph Doubell, in the San Diego meet. Doubell, the 1968 Olympic Games 800 meter champion, is entered in the 1000 yard run, in which he holds the world indoor record of 2:05.5.

O'Brien established a world steeplechase record of 8:22.0 in Berlin last year, shaving two-tenths of a second off the mark held by Vladmir Dudin of Russia.

The handsome, articulate Australian, who long ran in the shadow of countryman Ron Clarke, has finally emerged as his nation's premeir distance runner.

Last year he defeated Clarke in the Times Indoor Games at the Forum in Inglewood. He also beat America's best in the Orange County Invitational outdoor meet in June.

He was undefeated in Europe last summer except for the British Commonwealth Games when he fell on the water jump in the steeplechase while moving into the lead. He had six clockings under 8:35 in the steeplechase, one of them coming when he was forced to run the final half mile with one shoe after losing one on a barrier.

Five Top Speakers Named For Forum Of The Foothills Series

Drug abuse, civil rights, news media, law enforcement, and mental health are the featured topics in the fourth annual Forum of the Foothills lecture series which begins February 21.

All Frum lectures will be held on Sunday evenings, 7:30, in the Grossmont College gymnasium. A question and answer period will follow each lecture.

"This year's Forum will bring five top names to the Heartland area in what could be the best series ever," according to Paul Parker, Forum chairman.

Speakers include Erwin D. Canham, editor in chief of the Christian Science Monitor, Mrs. Medgar Evers, civil rights leader, Richard C. Bates, M.D., assistant clinical professor of medicine at Michigan State University, Joseph Kimble, chief of police of Beverly Hills, and Dr. Murray Banks, professor of psychology and author of six books dealing with the subject.

The Forum of the Foothills is a non-profit organization supported by members of the community who subscribe to the annual lecture series. Subscriptions are used to pay the guest lecturers and to publicize the series.

"Last year's series was the most successful ever. We had over 800 subscriptions to the 1970 series, and more will be needed to fund the 1971 series," Parker said.

Subscriptions to the series of five lectures may be purchased as follows: Sponsor, $50, which entitles the subscriber to ten tickets to each lecture; Family, $10, which includes all members of the family; and Individual $5. Tickets to individual lectures for non-subscribers have been set at $3.50.

Parker explained the purpose of the Forum, "to establish an annual series of lectures by prominent and distinguished speakers to discuss subjects of significant and current interest, directed toward the well-being of the community."

The 1971 series begins Feb. 21 with Erwin Canham, editor in chief, The Christian Science Monitor, speaking on the "Responsibility of the News Media."

Canham, with the Monitor for the past 40 years, has been a first-hand observer at many of the conferences and events which shaped recent history. He has served on a number of Presidential commissions and boards and holds honorary degrees from 26 colleges and universities.

Civil rights leader, Mrs. Medgar Evers, will be the second guest lecturer on Feb. 28. Her topic is, "Stepping on the Toes of the Status Quo."

Mrs. Evers, the first woman to appear in a Forum series, expresses a philosphy which rejects the use of violence to bring about change.

The widow of the slain civil rights leader urges the use of peaceful protest the vote, community organizations, and letter writing campaigns to help solve the nation's civil rights problems.

"Going to Pot" is the topic of the third lecturer in the series, and will be presented March 7. Guest speaker Richard Bates, M.D., will discuss the more serious aspects of the current youth problems with emphasis on the drug abuser as a sick person who comes from a disturbed home environment.

Bates is an assistant clinical professor of medicine at Michigan State University who speaks from extensive experience in treating thousands of alcoholics and drug addicts.

Popular, world-renowned psychologist, Dr. Murray Banks, will be the fourth Forum speaker. His topic, "What to do Until the Psychiatrist Comes," will be presented on March 21.

Banks provides a suble message while entertaining royally. He has lectured all over the world and published six books and seven long-playing records.

The problems of law enforcement in a change society will be discussed by the Forum's fifth speaker, Joseph Kimble, chief of police of Beverly Hills, Calif. His talk on April 18 is titled, "New Directions for the Police: Progress or Cop-Out?"

Kimble has 21 years of experience in the law enforcement field. He has served as a consultant to the President's Crime Commission, the U. S. Attorney General, and the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

He was director of on-site security at the now famous Woodstock Music Festival in New York which attracted nearly 400,000 young people.

For more information about the Forum or subscription information write: Forum of the Foothills, P.O. Box 2304, La Mesa, Calif., or telephone 466-4712, or contact any of the Forum Committee.

Forum Committee members are Gordon Austin, Stanley Brannen, Carl Campbell, Dr. M. Ted Dixon, Rev. N. Robert Kesler, Hardy G. Kuykendall, Jr., and Neil Towne, and Parker.

pollution is also a state of mind.

We hear a lot about pollution of air and water.

But what about mental pollution? Could it affect the environment we live in?

Perhaps the answer to dirty rivers and smoggy air is purer thinking . . . more spiritual thinking that eliminates the greed and self-will that cloud our thoughts.

To learn more about fighting mental pollution, come hear a talk by Grace Bemis Curtis, a teacher and practitioner of Christian Science, called "Let's Choose Heaven Here."

Soccer Is New Sport At Mt. Miguel High

A "new" sport has slipped its way into the Grossmont League and the California Intersholastic Federation this year.

Soccer, one of the oldest games around, was recognized for the first time this year in San Diego County as a CIF sport, and several high school youngsters are having a ball playing it at Mount Miguel High School.

Gary Loso, who coaches the Mount Miguel team, has spent many hours this year to get the team in shape. He said that he is grateful for the concentrated "effort of the students and faculty" at Mt. Miguel, which has made the team "one of the best integrated and best working groups that I have ever seen."

Mel Grant, principal at Mount Miguel, said that the costs for fielding a soccer team are lower than any other sport on the campus, because the existing football field and the adaptability of the goal posts makes it easy to create the needed field.

About the only expensive items that are needed for the team are the shoes, and those were furnished by the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club. The local service club paid $189 for 13 pairs of the shoes.

While soccer is a rigorous sport, it is not necessary for the athletes to be large or muscle-bound, as speed and teamwork are the most important ingredients in a successful team.

San Antonio was founded in 1716 by Spaniards.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:

I want to commend you for your article on youth in last week's edition of the newspaper.

How I wish every young person could read it and understand that all that they are, and all that the nation has to offer them is because of their parents, grandparents, and other ancestors — and of course, their God.

Msgr. John W.
McDonaugh
St. John of the Cross

Lemon Grove

Dear Editor:

I have not written to express an opinion publicly to an editor before. Today I feel compelled to do so.

Your January 21st issue shows the worst possible part of the late Andrew Jensen's breeding ranch for birds. It is sincerely questioned as to your intent. Why an insult to a wonderful man's memory by including it with his last written tribune?

True, his cages and fences were badly in need of repair. Who else, except for a handful of Lemon Grove High School students, ever really bothered to lend a helping hand to the 85 year old man? It's sad that so often only children see the need of others in our age.

All the written words, or pictures, cannot change one very final truth. He left no physical survivors, or a manicured yard behind him. He left only sincere gratitude for his kindness and friendship, within hundreds of loving hearts.

Will we be so fortunate?

Sincerely,
Patricia L. Owens

Dear Mrs. Owens:

Who lent a helping hand? We did — frequently!

Carolyn Norman

Students carry a regular semester's units while on the shipboard campus. They attend regular classes at sea between ports on the vessel which is equipped with the classrooms, laboratories, library, studio, theater, bookstore and offices necessary to the educational program offered.

Ashore the academic program continues with lectures, research projects, and field trips directly related to course work. Overnight homestays with families often are arranged, as are social events with local university students.

Now in its sixth year, World Campus Afloat is administered by Chapman college, one of California's oldest, liberal arts institutions, located in Orange Calif. Beginning with the fall semester of 1971 World Campus Afloat will be conducted aboard a new ship, the S. S. Seawise University, formerly the R.M.S. Queen Elizabeth.

as far as funding goes.

The mobile van would allow space for up to 15 students, and is relatively soundproof, according to the study. It would cost the district about $10,000 to purchase the van.

Paul Reynolds reported to the board on the Angelus Heights subdivision project, noting that a letter had been filed as directed by the board at its last meeting, pointing out the district's feelings on inadequacies in the proposed plan for the school for the subdivision.

Reynolds told the board that Boris Marks, architect for the subdivision, had filed a revised plan reflecting changes suggested in the board's letter. The new plan calls for improved pedestrian walkways and improved vehicular access to the school.

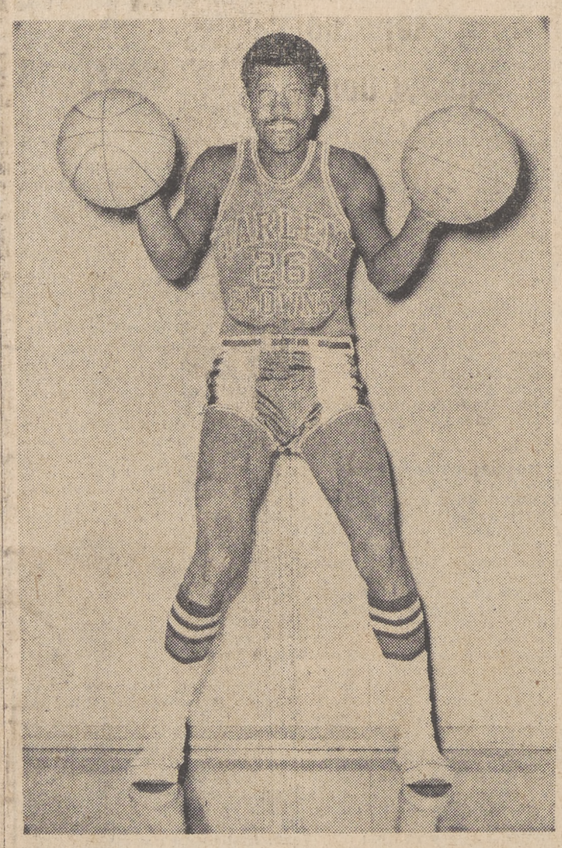
Now in its fourteenth year, the course covers the role of private and public agencies, and specific family, health care, children's, vocational and rehabilitation services. In its ten weekly sessions, speakers also discuss aid programs of the federal and state governments.



CLOWNS — Herb Scaife, six feet four, and one of the veteran performers of the Harlem Clowns, will be playing his fifth season with the famed basketball funnymen. He will be seen in action when the Clowns play in the Mount Miguel gym February 10.

Youngbloods To Appear At Sports Arena Sunday

By Lynn Jones

On Sunday, January 31, The Youngbloods will appear in concert at the San Diego Sports Arena. Also on the bill will be Canned Heat and Spencer Davis.

"Elephant Mountain" is the Younbloods' first record in over a year. Robert Gold of the Los Angeles Free Press says that, "If you're a record collector, you ought to have at least one Youngbloods' record, and 'Elephant Mountain' is their best."

Lynn Jones

The Youngbloods have moved their home to San Francisco from New York. They are now a trio, Jerry Corbitt left to produce records, and have taken on a different musical direction by combining rock, country blues and contemporary folk.

The group first appeared on the record scene in early 1967 with "Grizzly Bear." Their follow-up recording of Dino Valente's "Let's Get Together" established them as a tasteful and talented rock band. Their first RCA Victor album, "The Youngbloods," turned out to be a new and different kind of music with both country blues songs and contemporary folk material.

The Nucleus of the group is Jesse Colin Young. He is intense, soft-spoken, and a ballad/blues singer and electric bass player from New York. He was raised in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, atended Philips Andover Academy and went on to Ohio State and NYU, planning on becoming a writer. A friend gave him a copy of a T-Bone Walker album and that changed his career direction forever. He worked in New York and New England as a folk singer beginning 1963. He met up with pianist and composer Bobby Scot and made a couple of albums on his own before putting together The Youngbloods.

Joe Bauer, the group's drummer, came to New York from Memphis in 1964 looking for work as a jazz drumer, but finding mainly non-related employment — being night watchman in a chocolate factory. After traveling around the East Coast for awhile, he happened to meet up with The Youngbloods in Boston. He admits that he originally went with them just to eat. He didn't really like rock music.

Two weeks after The Youngbloods had returned to New York with Joe Bauer, they heard a knocking at their front door. It turned out to be Banana who stood with guitar in one hand and suitcase in the other saying, "I've come to join your band." Banana began his career as a classical pianist, but gave it up at the age of thirteen. In 1965, he was studying acting at Boston University and supported himself by playing bluegrass banjo and singing. "With the group, he adds an amazing piano skill.

Since The Youngbloods have become part of the San Francisco music scene, they have played a number of dates at the Fillmore West and the Avalon Ballroom in San Francisco. At the end of 1968 they ended a two-month concert tour of East Coast colleges with an appearance at the New York's Fillmore East, topped off with a standing ovation.

Canned Heat is best known as a blues band, but their music can really be described as rolling thunder with its foundation in country blues. Each member of the group knows his music and has a style that when put together makes everything fall neatly in place.

Bob "The Bear" Hite's first musical group was a jug band formed when he met the late Al Wilson. The band was still prety rough, but the audience was strong enough to keep the band going. Bob was awkward at first, but the music was real, and soon everything began to fall into place. He has now become a fine interpreter, singer, and writer of the blues. He has been responsible for many old bluesmen being recognized today and in fostering what many have called "the rebirth of the blues."

Spencer Davis has recently been performing on his own with only one addition: Peter Jameson. Both are originally from England, but were brought to Los Angeles to live, work, and record Spencer's successful American blues music.

The concert will start at 4 p.m. Tickets are $4.75 in advance and $5 at the door. They are also available at Sneaker Inns, Bill Gamble's Mens Stores, all Central Ticket Agencies and the Sports Arena Box Office, 224-4176.

Former L.G. Resident To Be Honored in S.D.

Friends of Ralph Smith will honor him as he retires as San Diego City's Municipal Athletic Supervisor. Smith began his career when he lived in Lemon Grove.

A dinner, organized by Lester Land general manager of the San Diego International Sports Arena, and Robert Barrow, assistant Municipal Athletic Supervisor, will be held at the Town & Country Convention Center Friday, Feb. 12.

Dinner is 7:30 p.m. which follows a no-host cocktail hour.

More than 300 people interested or involved in sports and recreation will attend. Sports personalities of the press and TV-radio will participate, Barrow said.

Smith lived in Lemon Grove on Citronella st. in the early 1940's, he said.

Ball Set Feb. 6

Los Lugarenos Dance Club has planned a "Sweetheart's Ball" for its February dance party, to be held February 6 at 8 p.m. at Carlton Oaks Country Club.

Music for the "California formal" dancing will be provided by the John Meiner Bans starting at 9 p.m., immediately following the cocktail hour.

Chairmen for the ball will be Mr. and Mrs. Don Quatrochi.

Last Sign-up For Little League Set

The final registration session for the 1971 season is to be conducted Saturday by the Lemon Grove Little League. Signup will be at the league field, 7550 Canton dr., next to Monterey Heights Elementary School, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

All registrants should be accompanied by at least one parent and must furnish a valid birth certificate. Boys 8 to 12 years old prior to Tug. 1 are eligible for Little League
